THE COAL DISTRICTS.

The Heaviest Producers Are the Mc-Kinley County Mines.

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

BEVEN DISTRICTS. The mining of coal has proved im mensely profitable in this territory during the past year. T' us far development has been chiefly confined to sovdistricts. These are the Gallup-Clarkville district in McKinley county the heaviest producer; the Blossburg region in Colfax county in the northeast section of the territory; the Madrid-O'Mara regions in Banta Pe county, the Monero district in Rio Arciba unty; the San Juan river region in Ban Juan county, the Carthage pits in Secorro county, and the White Oaks Capitan district in Lincoln county. The geographical location of these several coal fields in fortunately so happily fixed as to cover nearly the whole ter ritory and provide the people with fuel without the expense of long hauls and consequent high transportation

COAL MINE STATISTICS. During the past year 25 mines have been operated in six countles, as fol lows: Mckinley county, nine mines employing 971 men and yielding 543,15 tons, valued at $780.33; Colfax county, eight mines, employing 227 men, outputting 399,706 tons worth $602,107; Ban ta Pe county, three mines, employing 250 men and yielding 110.212 tons worth $218,000; Lincoln county, six mines, em playing 204 men, yielding $8,060 tons valued at $177.277; Itlo Arriba county four mines, employing 67 men, yield ing 35,796 tons. worth $47,388. At Car thage, Socorro coupniy, one mine is it operation, which employes 17 miner and the year's output was 6,000 too been worked in San Juan county inter mittently during the past year, yield Ing about 1,000 tons exclusively used DEMAND MORE THAN OUTPUT. The total output of coal in New Mex-4ce for the year ending June 20, 1900 was 1,187,334 tone, the estimated value of which was $1.837,165. This is an in crease in connage over the previou fiscal year of lis see cons. and an in ereased money value of $236,577. Fo this same period the total number of employes in and about the mines was 2,010, an increase for the year of 135 employes. The coal trade has been exceedingly brisk all through the year Although the total production of coal shows a marked increase, the demand for the territorial product has been much greater than the supply. In his current annual report the United States Inspector of coal mines for New Mex-Ico states: "At all mines in the terri tory, except the very small mines, the two-thirds of the orders received.
